History

The Depot Grille in Lynchburg enjoys an historic location between the abandoned canal, still-active railroad tracks and the James River. These transportation arteries provided Lynchburg a mercantile foundation that now spans three centuries. Shoes, tobacco, foundry and forest products were some of the freight which would have passed through this former N&W depot.

About The Depot Grille

Our beautiful back bar is from a pharmacy in Edinburg, Virginia. A local legend persists that stray bullets shattered the original mirror during an attempted bank robbery from none other than Frank & Jesse James who decided to rob the bank next door to the pharmacy on their way back to Missouri after the Civil War.

The booths are church pews from Grace Evangelical and Congregational Church in Allentown, Pennsylvania. The church was established in 1906 and has since been made into an antique store.

Our kitchen can be seen through the back windows of the dining room. Built in the 1960's, these two Georgia Northern Railroad freight cars were fully functional until their transformation. They were purchased in Marietta, Georgia where one had to have its brakes replaced specifically for the move to Lynchburg. After being lifted by cranes from the railroad tracks to the back of the building they were converted to The Depot Grille's kitchen.
